

Titanoboa

Titanaboa are huge pythons. They can grow up to 49ft. long. Anything they see that looks threatening to them, they kill. If it's a big creature they go for the face. Their jaw extends so much that they would be able to eat a huge desk, or a T Rex's head! Their main meal would probably be something quite shocking - Unitatherium! They love fish, especially Megalodon, who are related to Komodo Dragons only much, much bigger.

Rhys H

22 January 2020