

The Slippery frog

The slippery frog slipped off a building

He fell with a terrible splat because he was so fat

He bounced down the road and collided with an exploding toad

That was bouncing up the road

They made a sonic boom

Which made a witch fall off her swaying broom

She landed on the dusty floor

Then swore loudly at the frog and toad

Which she changed with a secret spell

That let off a terrible smell

And turned them into a blob of yellow gel
